March 11, 1998 LB 63, 180, 924, 1100, 1108, 1110, 1138

that, starting at the top of the Revenues, General Fund transfers, Reserve Fund transfer, we go to line, should have had line numbers, about half way down on the Revenue side is LB 63, adjusted Cash Reserve Fund transfer. That is another bill that is in the mainline, in the package, that will be coming up where we trans...there was an automatic $40 million in transfer to the General Fund this year from the Cash Reserve. LB 63 transfers 28 million of that into the out years, the next years. The reason, out of that 40 million that was automatic, we saved 12 million, using that to pay for the collocation for Grand Island, and the other 28 is transferred into the out years. Then if you follow down, LB 1100, which is the LB...or LB 180, which is $20 million, in the LB 180 a year ago, the property tax relief fund. We've done away with that and made those direct appropriations bills. Those at this point most of them show up in bills that are still coming, but they do show up in your status as available to spend. In other words, we took away the $20 million trust that we had established, wiped that out, and moved that to the bottom line, and those bills that are to be discussed in property tax relief bills will show up against the bottom line. And I want to, which is the variance from minimum reserve down below, 9.7 million of that 20 shows up in LB 1100...(LB) 1110, which is the ESU bill. So there is still intent to allow 20 to $22 million in property tax relief; 9.7 of it is allowed in...is already allowed for in the status, and so that shows up down in...that will be available in the variance from minimum reserve down below at $63 million. And so then we have the appropriations package, and you can read down there what we have allowed for in the appropriations package. The Technology Center, once again, LB 924. I am repeating some of what I said earlier, so that you understand where it shows up in the status.

PRESIDENT ROBAK: One minute.

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: LB 1110, $9.7 million; funds for Peru repair, which is LB 1138, $2.2 million; and then we have...so we end up with General Fund appropriations, per the committee package, of $2.2 million...billion, $2.2 billion, leaving down at the bottom line, variance over the minimum reserve is $63 million. In essence, so that everyone understands, I am probably going to run out of time, but if you want to do some spending that you've
